About the Institutions

Avinashilingam Institute for Home Science and Higher Education for Women, a Deemed-to-be-University fostering education and empowerment of women, is the dream-child of Padma Bhushan Dr. T.S.Avinashilingam Ayya, an illustrious educationist, veteran freedom fighter. Situated in the city of Coimbatore in South India, the Institute, in its sixty years of establishment, has marched from an affiliating Institute to Autonomous College in 1978 as one of the largest educational Institutions in the country, imparting moral and value based education, upholding Gandhian principles. The Institution received the Deemed-to-be-University status from Government of India under Section 3 of the UGC Act in June 1988 and has been re accredited with 'A+' grade by the National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC) in its fourth cycle of accreditation in 2018. The Institution provides academic flexibility under seven schools.

The University of Latvia (LU), with its 15,000 students, 13 faculties and more than 20 research institutes, including the International Institute of Indian Studies, is one of the largest comprehensive and leading research universities in the Baltic States. The University offers more than 130 state-accredited academic and professional study programmes. Ranked among the top universities in the Baltic region of the European Union, the University of Latvia has been rated four out of five stars overall in the QS Stars University rating system, and achieves five-star ratings in the categories 'internationalization', 'teaching', 'facilities' and 'innovation'. The University offers a number of international programs taught either partly or completely in English, including medicine and dentistry. The field of research spans over a wide range of topics including Ayurveda, Yoga, Sanskrit terminology, and Indian Classic Music. Collaboration and joint RD projects with international partners indicate the involvement in economic development. University of Latvia has signed MoUs with the leading Indian universities, including the Avinashilingam Institute for Home Science and Higher Education for Women, Coimbatore.

About the International Webinar

In commemoration of the 150th Birth Anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi, the Government of India is organizing various programmes, events and celebrations across India since 2018. This year this august occasion is celebrated by organizing lectures/symposia with foreign institutions jointly with an objective to allow Gandhian Thought and Philosophy to be widely disseminated among the intellectual circles. This international webinar is jointly hosted by Avinashilingam Institute for Home Science and Higher Education for Women, Coimbatore and the University of Latvia, Riga. It will be a convention of academics from the various faculties of both institutions with a resource lecture that will portray the principles and thoughts of The Mahatma, the Father of India.
